- 10.3. If Seller believes that Buyer's conduct constitutes a Change, Seller shall notify Buyer's Authorized Purchasing Representative immediately in writing as to the nature of such conduct and its effect upon Seller's performance. 15.3. If the failure to perform is caused by an Excusable Delay, as described in Article 17 herein, Seller shall not be liable for any excess costs of re-procurement, according to the terms of that Article.

15.4. If the Purchase Order is terminated for default, Buyer may require Seller to transfer title and deliver to Buyer, as directed by Buyer, any (i) completed Products; (ii) partially completed Products, supplies and materials (including raw material), parts, tools, dies, jigs, fixtures, plans, drawings, information, and contract rights that Seller has specifically produced or acquired for the terminated portion of the Purchase Order; (iii) Property and Tooling; (iv) Intellectual Property; and (v) Seller Data. In the event that Buyer's performance under any customer order or other obligation is jeopardized in any way by Seller's failure or delay in performance due to Excusable Delay, Buyer may cancel its purchase of affected Products or Services without liability to Seller. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Buyer may terminate all or any portion of a Purchase Order affected by Excusable Delay if Seller is unable to resume normal performance within thirty (30) days of commencement of the cause for the Excusable Delay.
